What is new at Bakhita Mountain Home?

Bakhita experienced significant transitions in 2024, propelling the organization to new heights. We welcomed Charlotte Blake as our new full-time case manager and Jason Frazier as our new Executive Director. It's hard to believe that both have been with BMH for a year now, and they are incredibly proud of the progress made to support the survivors we serve.

Some of the highlights from the past year include the establishment of numerous new community partnerships, the implementation of a new case management system to track all services provided to our residents, and an increase in the number of survivors served, not only in Colorado but across the country. And there's so much more to come!

“Bakhita Mountain Home has been a hope and inspiration in my life”

We have been busy and are excited to announce that we will soon be releasing our schedule of events for 2025.

Stay tuned as we have some exciting news on the announcement of three new events! 2025 is going to be a fun year!

Board of Directors Day

BMH Board of Directors will be meeting on April 4th, 2025, to have an incredible day of planning and discussions on the current state of BMH and discussions of the future and growth of the organization.

We have been incredibly blessed to have received support from the El Pomar Foundation who have graciously donated space for our all-day meetings at the historic Penrose House.

A Little About Greg

Greg Andersen was a math teacher at Rampart High School in Academy School District 20 for 38 years where he served on numerous school and district committees. He helped create and coordinate the annual Bald for Bucks Program to benefit the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society and local families. After 17 years, Bald for Bucks has donated more than $680,000 to LLS and more than $25,000 to local families with a child battling cancer. During his tenure as a teacher, he was honored with the 2006 Colorado Wal-Mart Teacher of the Year and the 2006 Academy District 20 Secondary Educator of the Year.

He is published in Best Practices for Teaching reading. Greg earned his Bachelors degree in Mathematics at Carroll College and his Masters in Teaching from Grand Canyon University. He loves to hike and mountain bike with his wife of 40 years, Angela, and spending time with his two daughters and grand daughter.

Welcome Greg Anderson

BMH welcomed it's newest Board of Directors member Greg Andersen and we are certainly lucky to have him.
